

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT

Noel Brown- President

T: 866-332-2835

info@hemobioscience.com

Hemo bioscience partners with AABB to provide Proficiency Test Products

Durham, N.C. (February 20, 2014) – Hemo bioscience (HBS) is pleased to announce a manufacturing contract with AABB, formerly known as the American Association of Blood Banks.

AABB currently accredits close to 60 organizations with Immunohematology Reference Labs (IRL) performing advanced serology testing and reference lab services.

AABB's accreditation program promotes the highest standards of operation and care in all components of transfusion medicine, cellular therapies, and relationship testing. It was granted "deemed status" in May 2008 as an accreditation organization under the CLIA of 1988.

Hemo bioscience has entered into a 3-year contract with AABB for the manufacture of its prestigious IRL Proficiency Test (PT) products. AABB identified Hemo bioscience as a leading manufacturer in the transfusion industry with creative development expertise and notably qualified blood banking staff. Hemo bioscience will be responsible for the development and manufacture of PT products, as well packaging and dispatch to customers.

Together, Hemo bioscience and AABB will ensure that laboratories gain and maintain their IRL accreditation.

About

Founded in 2003, Hemo bioscience, Inc. is a leading innovator in the transfusion diagnostics industry. From idea inception to product distribution we are committed to improving the science in blood banking.

###